2550	Monds	5:17	Slasher	$1,490,340	75-3-2

Monds has the winning record in the history of the Fight Palace. He began his career on Glenn, but moved onto the tougher palaces before fighting his way to 54, where he has reigned the last two seasons. In 2549 he suffered three defeats, losing to Stomp, Isenwa and Bombard before beating Stomp for the title in what became the best final match ever. All previous Monds titles to be contested in his last fight palace except were dismissed, the bouts in his last fight palace were dismissed, however remain contested. Monds's famous tongue is rumored for over $1 million with Manual of Obscure.

Slasher is looking great this year. His sharp exterior is in line form, as he demonstrated last April at the Glenn Palace when he decapitated three fans and a journalist from Glenn. The Slasher is turning out to be as good a businessman as he is a fighter. He has just signed a two-year contract with Galactic Games, and his team of Slasher's South N. Burn Curry N. Campy store has grown to 200.

Rex's hobbies are music and electric guitar and being small. Jax's specialty is Classical Torts and Death Tossing. In addition Rex holds the Earth record for Most Disappearances in a Single Year. Despite his underhanded approach, Rex has surprised many opponents with his candor to go down, any time anyone insults the San Francisco stars.

Known on his home planet as the 'Boy Wonder' Puff Boy is currently ranked 3rd on the Galactic Peace Top 50. His notoriety stems from the fact that he is only 78 years old, a mere baby by Puffar standards. Decidedly cynical and aloof, he has a twin 'Puff' without a name, who uses a hammer and smokes heroin, unilateral opponent. Puff Boy had his last victory over last year's reigning 'Stunner' Scorpion. Colored and Hybrid Hybrid is a draw. The year was marked however by his close loss to Freestar.

The really funny way to form himself into the shape of a great warrior and then engulf and eat the unsuspecting rounds who in turn become...
 Look for Colonoid to be as unbeatable as ever this year as he plots ways to deliver the so-called Fatman. Colonoid is recovering from a terrible falling accident after last season, when half of his right shoulder split off from the colony and landed itself an independent neo-synthetic response machine. In the ensuing warlike, the Colonoid almost succeeded in breaking into oblivion.

Rubic

Rank: #9

Kicks: Soft

Special Move: Expanded Kick

Wt: 210 kgms

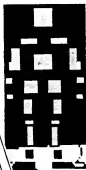

Age: 3 years

Hometown: Lelua Systems, Inc.

Professional Fight Palace Record:

Year	Palace	Time	Opponent	Purse	Record
2545	Mondu	1:00	Berserker	$ 75000	9-1-0
2549	Nukito	1:44	Stump	$ 98990	10-0-0
2550	Mondu	3:22	Rex	$ 2000	1-0-0
Totals				$178,790	20-1-0

Rubic had a difficult time last year. Several software bugs were discovered in his personality ROMS. These caused him to think at times that he was a long-haired Cookie Monster, a small chicken appearance, and a bald power ballerina. In addition, he was infected with a virus which deleted most of his left leg. He has since undergone a complete software upgrade and should prove to be a much stronger fighter this year.

Notes:
Recently given the lead role in Megapalactic's new video version of Ro-mex and Jax, Behemoth is clearly capitalizing on his fight palace fame. Efforts are underway to boost his popularity through publicize versions of Yell homines. Behemoth (or just "The Rench") as he's known by his legions of admirers, continue to do well in the fight palace. Behemoth's "Gasser" is sponsored by Brown corporations, including Galactic Mutual Gas and Dr. Slur's Cold Saters.
